

The Face of Oral Facial Surgery

Dr. Abtin Shahriari is an Ivy League-educated, board-certified oral maxillofacial surgeon known for his expertise in bone grafting, dental implants, and facial reconstruction. His education includes extensive surgical training at Emory University and the University of Pennsylvania. In addition to working in private practice, he often travels internationally as a lecturer on dental implants and oral surgery and serves as a clinical assistant professor of oral maxillofacial surgery at Georgia Regents University.

Shahriari operates a state-of-the-art surgical center, which is the only Georgia oral surgery office certified by the Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care (AAAHC). This certification demonstrates a superior level of safety, with adherence to guidelines that maximize patient protection during outpatient surgery. The surgical office offers special 3-D, virtual-reality surgical planning technology that allows Shahriari to predict surgical outcomes and formulate an individualized surgical plan for each patient. Specialized training in dental implant and oral surgery, paired with his extensive experience, promise exceptional results and world-class treatment.
